Saint Augustine's College hosts capital campaign events in Chicago

Chicago — Saint Augustine's College completed the Chicago stop of its $25 million Fulfilling the Promise Capital Campaign tour April 26-27.

The weekend included a recruitment fair, capital campaign reception and Saint Augustine's College Sunday at St. Edmund's Episcopal Church, where the Rev. Richard Tolliver is pastor. Saint Augustine's College President Dr. Dianne Boardley Suber presented the day's message to a congregation that included several Saint Augustine's College alumni. Suber discussed the need to support minority higher education.

The Saint Augustine's College capital campaign is a five-year effort with a $25 million goal. Money raised will support the scholarship fund, capital improvement and the institutional endowment.
