

For Immediate Release

February 12, 2008

Contact: Katrina Dix
Director of Communications
Office: (919) 516-4608
Fax: (919) 516-4360
e-mail: kadix@st-aug.edu

Writer: Brent Wright
President of Saint Augustine's College Men of Wisdom

Saint Augustine's College Students Join Historic March

Raleigh, NC - This year Men of Wisdom, a student organization at Saint Augustine's College, had the privilege to organize and take nearly 200 fellow classmates to the Historic Thousands on Jones Street march (HK on J) Saturday, Feb. 9. The march signified change and restoration to the legislative systems in the United States and around the world. Students marched alongside thousands of others from different races and religions.

The marchers organized at Chavis Park in Raleigh and the day began with community leaders pumping up the audience while speaking on issues concerning the communities. Men of Wisdom members saw the opportunity of what it meant to be in unity with various races of people for a common specific reason. "We believe we needed to share that unity, love, and awareness with our fellow peers. Students wore their Saint Augustine's College t-shirts, which signified us as unified, great and magnificent," Brent Wright, Men of Wisdom President, said. Wright went on to say, "The students represented this fine institution very well and were very proud to be apart of change."

Students commented after the march that they appreciate the Rev. William Barber, North Carolina NAACP president, for being an effective leader and a tremendous role model in our lives.

Men of Wisdom continue to spread the message of encouragement around campus for fellow students to continue to walk in the legacy of their parents and grandparents who paved the way so we may enjoy all the rights and privileges which we have today. "We want to thank all the student organizations that were represented. It showed humility, integrity, and respect for their organization and Saint Augustine's College. Let's continue the fight," Wright said.

www.st-aug.edu

* Saint Augustine's College* 1315 Oakwood Avenue* Raleigh, NC 27610-2298*