DR. CHRISTINE J. MCPHAIL

Dr. Christine Johnson McPhail is the 13th President of Saint Augustine's University in Raleigh, NC. Prior to joining Saint Augustine's, Dr. McPhail served as President and CEO of the McPhail Group, LLC and a nationally recognized thought leader in higher education. She is the founding professor and director of the Community College Leadership Doctoral Program at Morgan State University. Dr. McPhail is the former president of Cypress College in California. She also recently served as a professor of practice at Kansas State University in the John E. Roueche Center for Community College Leadership Development. She is a Certified Associate for Emergenetics International, which helps organizations, ranging from small businesses to Fortune 500 companies, achieve desired results including increased efficiency and improved communication through solutions centered on the Emergenetics Profile and tools.

After multiple decades in higher education, Dr. McPhail served as a leadership coach with Achieving the Dream with a mission to help leaders shape the teaching and learning environment by engaging, aligning, and inspiring people to act. She has developed proven coaching and consulting methodologies and leadership programs that are now used by numerous institutions to help their leaders drive results.

Dr. McPhail is the recipient of the 2018 Diverse Champions Award from Diverse Issues in Higher Education, the 2010 AACC National Leadership Award, and the 2008 League of Innovation's Terry O'Banion Leadership Award. She served on the Advisory Council for the Community College Survey of Student Engagement and the National Center for Postsecondary Research at the Community College Research Center.

She served on the board of directors for the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) and the Council for the Study of Community Colleges. Dr. McPhail has also served as the affirmative action officer for Division J of the American Education Research Association and on the editorial board for the Community College Journal of Research and Practice. She is the editor for one of AACC's best-selling publications, Establishing and Sustaining Learning Centered Community Colleges, the coauthor of the best-selling Practical Leadership in Community Colleges with Dr. George Boggs, and author of Leadership Tune-Up: Twelve Steps to Becoming a More Successful and Innovative Leader.

Dr. McPhail's research interests lie in the intersection of three fields of higher education: leadership, governance, and learning.

OVERVIEW

In an effort to expand leadership development opportunities for students of Saint Augustine's University (SAU), during the Fall Semester of the 2021-22 School Year, the Office of the President provided the vision to establish an annual Student Global Leadership Fellows Institute. The institute was planned and implemented under the direction of the Office of the Associate Vice President for Student Affairs.

After engaging in an application and selection process, eleven (11) students were selected for the inaugural class. Applicants could be of any major and had to be a current full-time student enrolled at SAU (second semester Freshman, Sophomore, or Junior classification). The goal of the institute was to empower this group of Global Fellows with leadership competencies and experiences to propel them to lead in a complex, diverse, and rapidly changing world within the following focus leadership areas: Communication Skills, Planning and Organizing, Problem Solving and Decision-Making, and Building Relationships.

Four monthly interactive, inter-intrapersonal leadership training and development sessions were conducted by renowned national facilitators. Due to the presence of a national health pandemic, three sessions were held virtually and the final session was held in-person followed by an Awards Banquet.

To assess the effectiveness of the training, a written skills evaluation survey was administered with the students before and after the training to gauge the level of student learning outcomes. In addition, a program / speaker evaluation was administered following each session. During the sessions, there were also small groups and/or large group discussions to share and ask leadership questions.

To highlight civic engagement and global competency, both the America University of Nigeria and the DJRELC Education and Leadership Center of South Africa partnered with St. Augustine's University to allow their students and faculty to participate and exchange experiences during the training.

LEADERSHIP & EXPERIENCE

The Student Global Leadership Fellows Institute at Saint Augustine's University is designed to provide students with leadership competencies and experience to propel them to lead in a complex, diverse, and rapidly changing world.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

FOCUS LEADERSHIP AREAS

- Communication skills
- Planning and organizing
- Problem solving and decision-making
- Building relationships

INTER & INTRAPERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

- CIVIC ENGAGEMENT AND GLOBAL COMPETENCE

CAPSTONE PROJECT

The capstone project is designed to consolidate students' learning with valuable hands-on experience to provide essential skills to evolve into well-prepared and well-rounded students. The goal is for students to work together to create innovative solutions for real-life problems, all while gaining valuable insights into the demands and responsibilities of how to enhance or solve a potential challenge. In addition, students will have a chance to bring their leadership, communication, and problem-solving skills to life and understand the consequences of their decisions in a "safe space."

To ensure the Student Global Leadership Fellows Institute is marketed to capture a diverse cohort class, current student fellows in the inaugural 2021-2022 cohort will develop written recruitment and program orientation strategy for the 2022-23 School Year. Fellows will have an opportunity to use their leadership, communication, planning, and organizational skills for marketing the institute to a new cohort class. The capstone project will become the blueprint for selecting and advertising the institute. The 2021- 22 cohort will also serve as program goodwill ambassadors.

OUR STUDENTS

My name is Chase Gray, and I am a sophomore Psychology major from Columbia, Maryland. My career goal is to become a Sports Psychologist and own an NFL team. My favorite quote "Perseverance is key, Power isn't given it has to be taken."

My name is Joevensky Seme, and I am a sophomore Biology major from Statesville, North Carolina. My career goal is to work in the healthcare field. My favorite quote "Your mentality forms your reality."

My name is Jessica Nagbe, and I am a sophomore, majoring in biology. I was born in Monrovia, Liberia, West Africa, and raised in North Carolina. My dream career is to one day become a Cardiologist. My favorite quote about leadership comes from the Bible, Luke 12:48, "For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required: and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more."

My name is Peter Musenge, and I am a junior Biology and Engineering Mathematics major from Lusaka, Zambia. My career goal is to become a Computational Chemist. My Favorite leadership quote: "A leader is a dealer in hope" — Napoleon Bonaparte

My name is Holly Millsaps, and I am a Political Science major from San Bernardino California, but I grew up in Gilbert Arizona. My career goal and passion are to become a lawyer to help people and animals facing discrimination. My favorite quote: "I'm here to make a change".

My name is Akilah Williams, and I am a freshman English major from Waldorf, Maryland. I am a Presidential Scholar. My career goal is to become a President of a Historical Black College or University. One of my favorite leadership quotes come from President John F. Kennedy: "Leadership and learning are indispensable to each other."

My name is Jaden Hambric, and I am a freshman Criminal Justice major from Washington, DC. My career goal is to become a Police Officer. The institute has taught me that leadership is more than just expressing your voice; it is a way of life because we exercise leadership every day. My favorite leadership quote is "a man of excuses has already displayed failure."

My name is Khiyana Montford, and I am a Psychology major from Hampton, Va. My dream career is to become a Clinical Pediatric Psychologist to catering to the needs of persons of color. My favorite leadership quote that I love and stand on would be "Anyone who claims to be a leader must speak like a leader. That means speaking with integrity and truth." — Kamala Harris

My name is Donovan Blackley, and I am a sophomore Exercise Science/Pre-Dentistry major from Cincinnati, Ohio. My career goal is to become a General Dentist and own my practice. The Global Leadership Fellows Institute has taught me how to be proactive and the art of communication to foster meaningful relationships. My favorite leadership quote: "Sometimes you need to get knocked down to understand what your fight is." - Chadwick Boseman

My name is Emmanuel Bryant, and I am a sophomore Business Administration major from Greenville, North Carolina. My career goal is to become a Financial Planner and Business Consultant. My favorite quote "Leadership is about people, when you've made it about yourself you've failed."

My name is Bernard E. Zandonada, and I'm originally from Zimbabwe down in Southern Africa. I'm a junior Computer Information Systems major. I've always been passionate about technology and computers, so coming to college, I decided to major in IT so that I would graduate and pursue a career in Product Management or Technology Analytics. My career goal is to work with Amazon or Credit Suisse. My favorite leadership quote is, "Leadership is an action not a position."

SESSION DESCRIPTIONS

Mr. Marcus Bass

Cracking the Community Code: Developing Community Informed Campus Student Leaders

The challenges of a student on any college campus represent a microcosm of community issues. In this moment of pandemic, these similarities are exacerbated as campus students and indigenous community face similar issues of survival from fair housing, food deserts, low wage jobs, and injustice in policing and the courts.

In this session participants will take a deep dive into the historical context of campus community relationships from the perspective of the global student leader preparing to create systems change in the real world by piloting or supporting community efforts. We will examine the necessary elements of understanding, connecting, and realizing the value of direct service learning beyond traditional transactional community service initiatives. This session will unpack lessons from our rich history as HBCUs in shifting the dynamics of the quality of life for residents inside and outside of our institutions.

Mr. Travis Jackson

The Building Blocks of Leadership: Teaching Leadership Through Jenga.

This exciting session allow participants to literally stack the blocks with JENGA!! The game of JENGA will be used to embrace the real-life leadership skills of effective communication, risk taking, listening, teamwork, self-confidence, personal accountability, and creative problem solving. Hands on, fun, and challenging!!!!

Dr. Ashley Little

The Power of Networking & Collaboration

Students will learn different strategies to successfully collaborate and network. These strategies will help them increase their reach and impact with their peers, the university, and in their careers. Networking and Collaboration are key!

Mr. Rasheed Ali Cromwell, Esq.

Doing The Most!: Minimize Obligations, Maximize Performance

Stressed out? Too tired to make it to that next meeting? Is it the same small group of people doing all the work? Well, this powerful session is for you! It is time for you to break this vicious cycle with the cure for the curse! This high-energy exchange is a unique blend of energy and time management, personal and professional prioritizing, as well as best methods and strategies for self-preservation. These elements are necessary, because student leaders often spend all their time advancing their clubs/orgs without pouring into themselves. It is critical for both new and seasoned student leaders to jump-start their leadership by minimizing obligations and maximizing their performance. Join us and learn how!!

MR. MARCUS BASS

Marcus Bass is Executive Director of the political strategy and advocacy group Advance North Carolina which provides infrastructure support for local organizing and electoral strategy among black-led groups and underrepresented communities across the State. He also serves as the Deputy Director of the North Carolina Black Alliance - a 501c3 infrastructure building organization for churches, colleges, social and civic organizations , and elected officials.

Marcus joined Advance and the Black Alliance in 2017 after serving as Statewide Campaign Director for voting rights advocacy group Democracy North Carolina, where he led their long-term redistricting effort, coordinated millennial and faith-based voter engagement, and served as a key messenger for the organization. Prior to that Marcus worked for the North Carolina Association of Educators.

Marcus is the former Board Chair of Common Cause North Carolina and is currently the chairman of the Board of Directors of the NC State Voices affiliate Blueprint North Carolina.

A native of Eastern NC, as a student at NC A&T, Marcus served as Student Body President and led several grassroots efforts including, a protest of the News and Record Coverage of the Black Community, a student refund check demonstration, and the largest collective voter mobilization effort "Greensboro United March to the Polls" during the 2008 election.

Bass is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc., where he is the Director of political advocacy for the Association of North Carolina Alphas. He is a former State Youth Department President of the Women's Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary Convention, former Director of NC Youth Bible Camp, and the 2009 President of the Council of Student Body Presidents.

Bass has founded 2 pivotal leadership development initiatives. In 2011 he began Camp Lead Up, a summer leadership institute focused on facilitating the transition for minority middle school students to high school through academic support, cultural enrichment, leadership development, civic engagement and community service. In 2014 he coordinated the first HBCU SGA Think Tank which was an annual convening of student leaders from across 10 of North Carolina's HBCU campuses. He is married to Bree Newsome-Bass and they have one son.

MR. TRAVIS P. JACKSON

Travis P. Jackson is a 2011 graduate of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University where he served as the Student Government Association Vice President of External Affairs. He obtained his Bachelor of Science Degree in Journalism and Mass Communication with a concentration in Public Relations. Presently, Travis is the CEO and Founder of HBCU Pride Nation (HPN), an engaging online platform with almost over 300,000 followers that promotes the connectivity, significance and pride of Historically Black Colleges and Universities in an effort to increase their positive awareness and enrollment.

HBCU Pride Nation has provided social media marketing services for Warner Media, Thurgood Marshall College Fund, Cracker Barrel, One United Bank, The Celebration Bowl (National HBCU Football Championship), Toyota Go Green, Honda Battle of the Bands, Ford HBCU Challenge, Regions Bank, the CIAA, the National Black MBA Association and others. HBCU Pride Nation reaches between 150k-300k people a week and receives 850k-1.5M impressions a week. As a motivational speaker he teaches leadership through the game of Jenga.

Travis was honored as one of the "Top 30 Under 30" African-American entrepreneurs in Charlotte by the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Black Chamber of Commerce. In addition, he was chosen the "Emerging Leader of the Year" by the National Black College Alumni Hall of Fame and "HBCU Top 30 Under 30" by HBCUBuzz. He was recently honored as a graduate of the inaugural class of Next Level Leadership Inc., a nonprofit that empowers African-Americans to lead in Charlotte.

Travis has developed and executed events such as the HBCU Pride Brunch, the official HBCU Brunch in the country for HBCUs and the HBCU Pride Experience (formerly known as the Hillman Experience) where over $1.5M in student scholarships have been given awarded, nearly 3000 students have attended, and over 50 HBCU's have come to admit students on the spot.

As a motivational speaker Travis teaches leadership through the game of Jenga and his life story. He has conducted workshops at the National Black College Hall of Fame, CIAA, The Kings and Queens Connection Conference in New Orleans, the NASAP conference, the US Black Chamber of Commerce Conference in Washington, DC where he was honored as an "US Emerging Leader in Business" and spoke on "How to Build Big Brands on Social Media". He was also a featured speaker on "Sister Circle", a popular media outlet in Atlanta, GA, to talk about the significance of HBCUs.

Travis serves as a member on the Board of Directors for iSpeakNow, a nonprofit that instills passion, pride, and confidence in children and young adults by providing mutually positive and interactive learning environments so that they recognize their future is limitless.

Recently, Travis and the HBCU Pride Nation team was awarded their own Proclamation Day by Mayor Vi Lyles called the "HBCU Pride Nation Day" in Charlotte, N.C. which will be an annual holiday in the city that celebrates HBCUs.

The quote that Travis lives by is "You can't be Superman or Superwoman to everyone else and Kryptonite to yourself".
