Greetings, Falcon Family,

I trust that this message reaches you in good health. As your SGA President, I want to share some vital information regarding SACSCOC's recent decision. While rumors about the immediate loss of our accreditation may be circulating, I want to assure you that this is NOT the case. Our institution remains accredited, ensuring that students will continue to benefit from financial aid, a high-quality education, and full credit for courses. Significantly, SACSCOC's decision does not affect the excellence of teaching, the range of courses available, or the opportunities for internships.

As we face this difficult time, now is the moment to unite to support our beloved institution! Students, I encourage you to attend classes enthusiastically, strive for academic excellence, and embrace opportunities for professional development. Our collective efforts will propel us forward as we transform, lead, and excel. We must rally behind our dedicated faculty and staff at this time. With determination and solidarity, we can overcome any challenge that comes our way!
